

Abode white granite inset sink, £359, John Lewis of Hungerford.

5

Stand out

Create a feature with a raised-edge inset sink like this one-and-a-half bowl design, shown in John Lewis of Hungerford's Urban kitchen. Colour-match with the worktop for a subtle look.

6

Blanco Claron 700-U stainless-steel sink, £608.40, Cue & Co.

Hidden away

Undermounted sinks keep a low profile, which is great if you're opting for scene-stealing worktops. Stainless steel works particularly well with the industrial look of polished plaster.

Tip

If you are intending to install a waste-disposal unit, check the drainage and waste outlet on your new sink is compatible.

Modern twist

Combining stainless steel and copper with statement detailing, this bespoke sink brings a restrained industrial vibe to classic painted kitchen cabinetry.

7

Bespoke stainless-steel sink, from £1,200, Moore & Bradfield.

8

Waterford 100cm sink, £239; Waterford 50cm sink, £219, both Carron Phoenix.

Double delight

Add an extra half-bowl sink to provide useful back-up to your main sink. Do make sure you choose a tap with a wide radius pivot spout that will easily cross the divide. These high-quality ceramic sinks come with a lifetime guarantee.

FEATURE LINDA CLAYTON